West Coast Trip May Include Inspection Of Alaska Is Report

By GEORGE DUNNO
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Reports from the west coast indicated today that President Roosevelt is planning an inspection trip to Alaska following his impending cross-country journey to the San Francisco Golden Gate exposition.

Final decision on the North Pacific voyage will depend on the status of domestic and international affairs, it was understood. Mr. Roosevelt hopes to swing west in mid-June and wind up aboard a navy cruiser headed for America's northernmost insular possession.

A cruise to Alaska would give the president an opportunity to inspect increased air and naval defenses this government has under way in the territory which branches out closest to the Far East.

Work done by Owen Fox on the public square is beginning to show up. The square promises to be a real beauty spot this summer. It

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, May 17.—Four British and two United States warships have moved to off Amoy today as Admiral Sir Percy Noble, British far eastern naval chief, delivered an "ultimatum" to Japanese authorities demanding that Nipponese blue-jackets evacuate Kulangsu island, Amoy's international settlement.

The British destroyers Duncan, Scout and Defender augmented the British cruiser Birmingham and the American cruiser Marblehead and destroyer Bulmer. A French destroyer also was en route.

(A report from Hong Kong said some of the Japanese naval forces which occupied Kulangsu have withdrawn.)

Occupied Last Week
Kulangsu island was occupied last week by Japanese blue-jackets. Yesterday Japanese Consul General Goro Uchida rejected a protest filed by the Kulangsu municipal council against its seizure.

The "ultimatum" delivered by Sir Percy demanded that the Japanese forces leave Kulangsu within 48 hours. Otherwise, it warned, the British would land a large military force there.

Hong Kong, May 17.—Japanese authorities have withdrawn some of the naval forces which occupied Kulangsu island, it was reported in Hong Kong today.

The Kulangsu municipal council, the advice added, rejected all but one of the Japanese demands.

Of Potter Palmer

(International News Service)

SARASOTA, Fla., May 17.—Official report of an autopsy on the body of Potter D'Orsay Palmer was awaited today as authorities strove to determine what caused the death of the 34-year-old scion of a wealthy Chicago hotel family.

Palmer died late Monday from what at first was believed to have been a cerebral hemorrhage caused by a blow the much-married playboy received in a fist fight last Thursday, but this conclusion was disputed at an inquest by expert medical testimony.

As a result of the confusion existing as to the cause of death, the inquest was postponed pending completion of an autopsy.

Commander J. C. Kenworthy and the crew of seven escaped injury but the blimp's 400,000 cubic feet of helium gas escaped into the air. The gondola was comparatively unharmed in the 100-foot drop and naval officials said the gas bag could be repaired at moderate cost.

LONDON, May 17.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and his cabinet ministers at their regular weekly meeting today considered the British government's reply to the Soviet union, designed to comply with Moscow's demand for reciprocity in return for Russia's entry into the anti-aggression front.

Embracing concessions to the Soviet attitude in a move to break the deadlock in the London-Moscow negotiations, the reply to Moscow was drafted in the form of a note at an urgent meeting last night of the cabinet foreign affairs committee. The note was to be sent to Moscow later today.

Roosevelt Trade Treaty
System Facing Attack

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The Argentine beef controversy and administration opposition to the "buy American" amendment to the pending navy supply bill brought threats of a broadside attack on the Roosevelt reciprocal trade treaty system in the senate today.

Senators from cattle states supporting the amendment quickly passed the word, furthermore, that if the Roosevelt administration defeats the legislation, it must "forget some electoral votes in the west in 1940."

The "buy American" amendment prohibits purchase of foreign foodstuffs by the navy. It was approved in the house after President Roosevelt authorized purchase of 48,000 pounds of Argentine canned corned beef. A fight is underway in the

G-Men Enter
Philadelphia
Murder Probe

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—Under orders to "get to work at once," G-men today began search for fugitive suspects in Philadelphia's widespread insurance-murder ring.

Asked into the mushrooming case by Philadelphia authorities, the federal agents began immediately to spread their nets for two key figures in the mass murder plots suspected of having taken 100 lives in a five-state area.

Those for whom J. Edgar Hoover, the G-men's chief, and A. Bernard Leckie, head of the Philadelphia FBI office, were asked to search included, first, Mrs. Rose Carina, grim "kiss of death woman" and Lorelei of the syndicate. She is suspected of luring at least four men to their deaths.

Second, is Dominick Rodeo, accused as an accessory in the drowning of Joseph Arena, a Philadelphia, near Sea Isle City, N. J., in 1932.

Meanwhile, possibility was seen that still another federal agency—the post office department—would be brought into the investigation which now is operating on a triple front of G-men, detectives and district attorney's office maneuvers.

QUEBEC, Que., May 17.—"Deeply moved" by the history-making occasion and the warmth of the thunderous welcome from their French-Canadian subjects, King George and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain landed on North American soil under the battle-scarred cliffs of Quebec at 10:35 a. m. (EDT) today.

As the boom of Canada's 21-gun salute and the cheers of a great throng died away, King George, the first reigning British monarch ever to visit one of his dominions, told a group of his ministers and other notables that he hoped to see as much of the country and its people as possible.

King Speaks
Addressing Prime Minister Mackenzie King at a luncheon given in the legislative building by the dominions government, King George said:

"I am deeply moved . . . I recognize that this moment is historic. It is the first time that a British King has crossed the Atlantic. I stand today on the soil of North America. Here in the past two centuries, through loss and through gain, the British commonwealth of nations has been largely molded into its present form."

"The Queen and I are looking forward, with anticipation too great for expression, to seeing all we possibly can of this vast country. Particularly do we welcome the opportunity of greeting the men and women who are its strength and

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TOO MANY BOSSES

From Brooklyn, New York, a mother writes:
"Dear Dr. Myers:—I am a widow with three children, aged two and a half, four and six, and would appreciate any suggestions you can offer in helping me solve my problem."

"My greatest trouble is getting my children to eat. Usually takes one hour and longer at one meal. Have tried many ways of getting them to eat, such as giving gold stars, making eating a game, having the children eat alone and also with grown-ups, but it is always the same long, drawn-out affair in which both my mother and myself almost lose patience and hope."
"My mother plans and cooks the meals which are wholesome, simple and nourishing."

Two Bosses

Answer—Your main problem is that there are two bosses. Reduce that number to one. Unless your mother is far more calm and self-controlled than you are, relieve her entirely of managing their eating; otherwise, you go on the retired list. Cut out the stars and don't add any stripes. Discontinue games. Such devices work for a little while sometimes, but if these children are to grow up they will always eat as long as they live. Assuming you are going to be sole engineer, work on yourself to say nothing.
Place before each child a small helping of just one food, nothing else—the one he most needs and is least likely to want. The moment he refuses it, let him get down and count the meal ended. He must have nothing else until the next regular mealtime.

Then Give Another

Should he eat all the small helping given him, give him a small helping of another essential food, and proceed as before. Say nothing. If the child cries, let that be his unlimited privilege, but just act as if you don't hear him.

Since these children have made the problem a kind of social one it might be better to have the youngest eat alone before the others do, or both the younger ones, if that seems best. Until the younger ones improve, it might be well to let the older one think himself an adult, to whom no one will say a word about his eating or even supervise the amount he shall have on his plate. It's never wise to class a six-year-old with one of two or four.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

MORE FIGURES

Shingles for the roof of your new house may now come from oil wells as well as trees. They are made of asphalt, and are not only colorful, but fire-resistant and durable.

There are four basic stages in their manufacture. Making the rag felt base, saturating and sealing the felt base with hot asphalt, imbedding the mineral factory-colored granules in the asphalt-treated base, and cutting out the shingles.

An asphalt shingle machine is a complex giant three hundred feet long. A three to six-foot-wide roll of felt is fed into it at one end, and the completely finished shingles are automatically ejected from the other a few minutes later.

Felt passes through the machine at a rate of two hundred fifty feet per minute. During eight hours' operation twenty miles of felt produce 604,800 square feet of shingles—enough to roof more than two hundred average homes.

In 1937, it is estimated that these machines produced 29,942,201 squares of roofing, representing an average production of ninety-nine square feet of asphalt roofing every second of a twenty-four hour day.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

AN UNTIDY MAN'S JUSTIFICATION

An untidy man and a tidy woman are their own despair. She to whom orderliness is human. Prets over her care. As he follows, his footsteps by day and night.

Patiently toiling to set things right. Yet this is the truth that all discover.

As time goes rolling by. Man is untidy the wide-world over. As my father and I. And as mother followed my dad, so she follows to straighten the room for me.

Best is it so that such line should order Woman and man. For were both of us worshippers of order.

And speak and span Our lives might shine with perfection's glow.

But out of them laughter and love would go. (Protected by The George Matthew Adams Service)

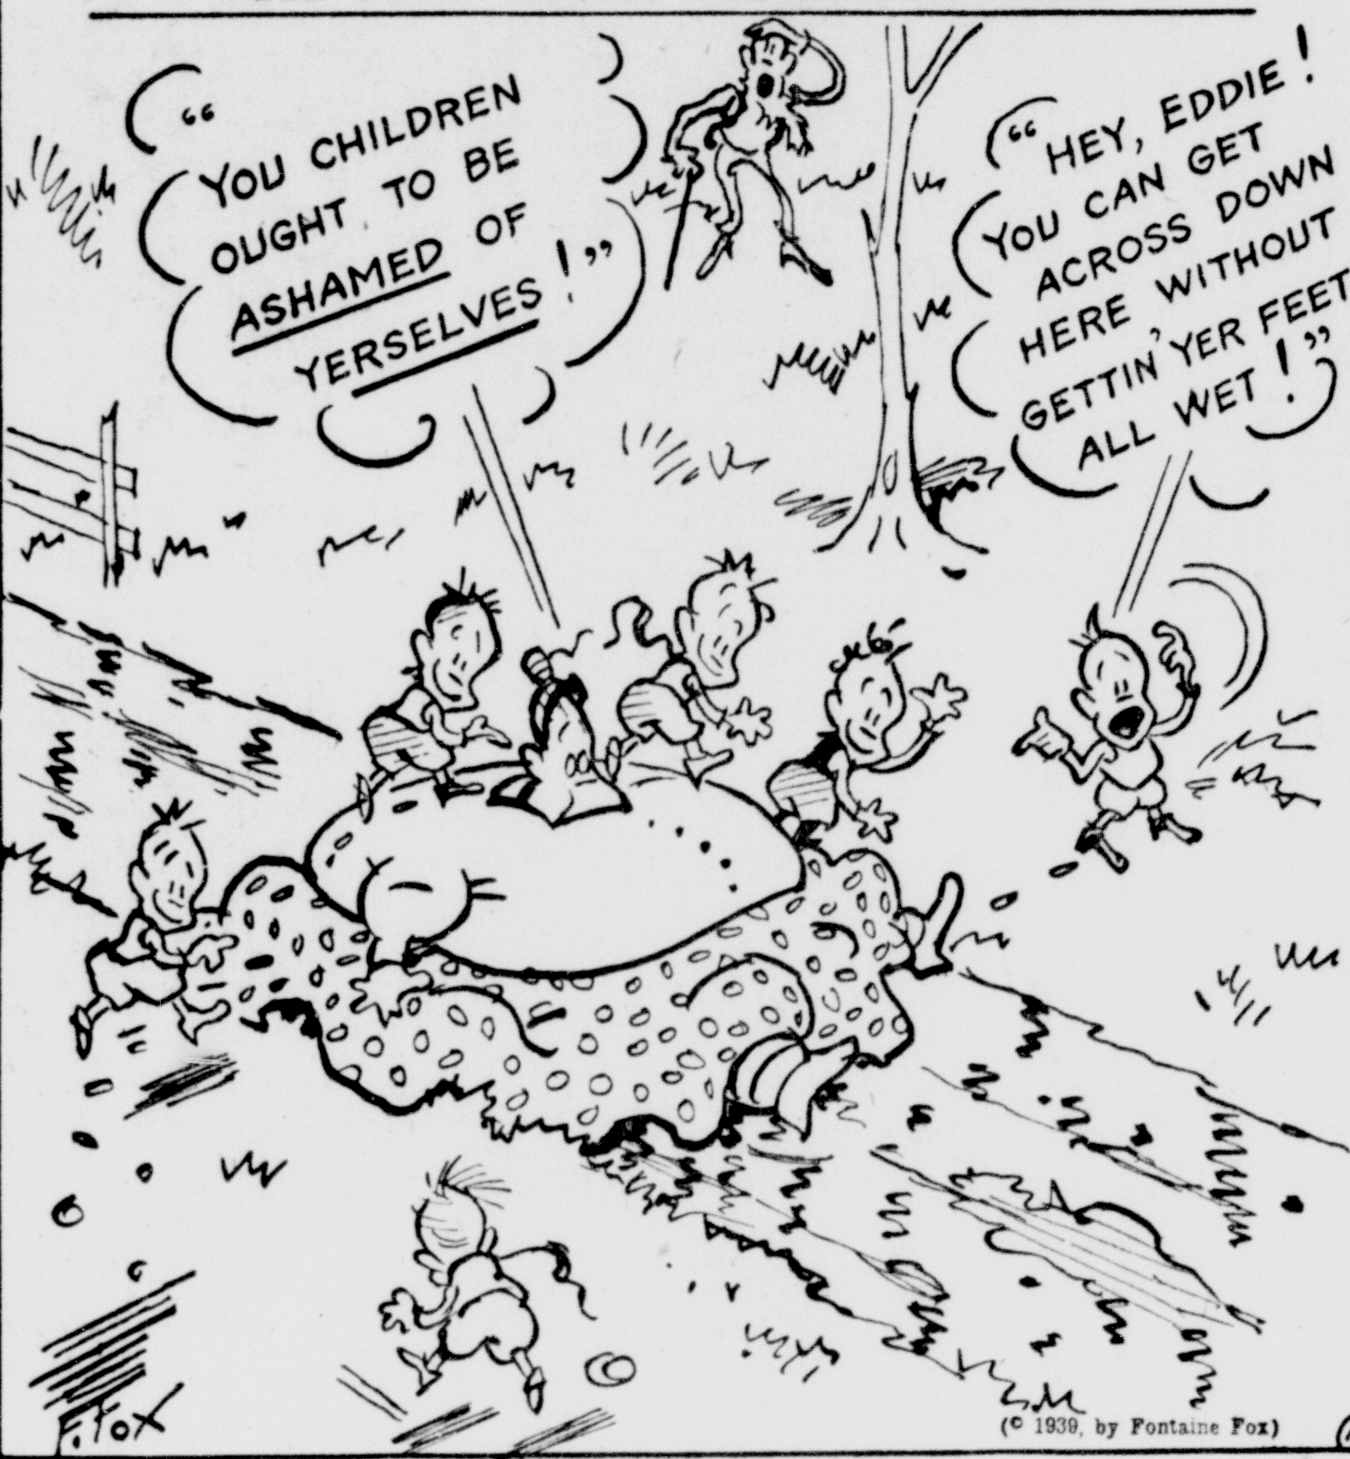

Bible Thought For Today

May 13, 1939.

Dear Fred:

May I express to you and your reception committee my sincere appreciation for the fine job you did during the Rotary conference. Many of the boys spoke to me about the ease which prevailed the meeting and the friendliness which was so evident.

My personal thanks to you and Mrs. Renz for your courtesy to Edna and Marian. They enjoyed every minute of their stay.

I should be sadly remiss if I did not mention my gratification at the splendid publicity which your paper gave to every detail of the sessions.

Sincerely,

RICK.

A COUPLE OF CHUCKLES

Not only is W. C. Fields America's favorite movie comedian but nature has aided and abetted his gift to make people laugh by endowing him with a nose which, in form and color, is of the kind that less able comedians deem it necessary to imitate in putty and rouge. As to whether nature is entirely responsible for the color is a question. For it is alleged that the same Mr. Fields had been capable of imbibing a considerable amount of beverage such as leaves its mark in color at the bulb end of the nose. But even though that allegation had no basis of fact, as Mr. Fields contends, the warm glow at the end of his nose is said to have aroused the envy of John Barrymore, himself alleged to be no mean consumer of firewater.

According to a story emanating from Hollywood it was at one of those parties at that Garden of Glamour that Barrymore bumped into Fields. Striking a Shakespearean pose and staring straight at the highly colored bulbous protuberance, Barrymore exclaimed, "Magnificent! Canst tell me, sire, how thy nose hath attained such sublime coloring—such rosy glow?" Fields was equal to the occasion. "Sure, knave," he replied, with a Fieldian leer. "It glows with pride because it knows how to keep out of other people's business."

Whenever, at the theater or the movies, I sit near one of those vociferous applauders whose handclaps are louder and longer than any of the others nearby, I wonder if he is paying for a pass or whether the exuberance is purely alcoholic. If you have studied a specimen of this breed, you have noted that he usually holds his hands shoulder high while clapping—because he wants to be seen as well as heard.

Reader's Questions Answered
Dear Miss Markel—Please answer the following: (1) May wedding attendants be married? (2) May a single woman, who earns her own living and boards—having no home, have a formal wedding, dressing as a bride? (3) If the bride has been married secretly, is it correct for her friends to give her a shower a few months after her wedding—as soon as the announcement is made? B. T.

Answer: (1) Yes. (2) Yes, if she can afford to have a formal wedding, the expenses of which are hers and not the groom's, and it must be held at her home, a hotel or the home of a friend. (3) Yes. Copyright, 1939, by Watkins Syndicate, Inc.

Tomorrow—Vulgar Table Manners

A California psychiatrist says the principal causes for mental troubles of students are love affairs, homesickness, sleeplessness and loss of appetite. He forgot assignments.

The wind had interfered with golf playing quite a bit this spring. Isn't that just too bad.

A motorist in court was protesting. "But I wasn't doing 45 nor 30, nor even 25—"

"I must warn you" interrupted the Judge, "that you are in danger of backing into something."

Who remembers when they were called "coffin nails" and only "sissies" ever smoked them?

There isn't much objection to people speaking their minds if they do not do it brutally.

A clean-up week for everything outside of houses is fine. We know of some houses that would be better if just a little cleaning up was done inside of them.

A woman, asked how she was going to vote replied:
"I think I shall wear the new three piece suit and that close-fitting hat you saw me wearing Sunday."

The mayor of Pittsburgh will not stand for any of the police drinking. When some people get into high office they make special attempts to show their brutality. Th' very idee!

Longing to grow up, he says: "I'm fourteen, ain't on fifteen." Later he says: "I'm still in my thirties; won't be in forty till next week."

German newspapers sure rap our president. They are continually telling him to mind his own business—being the coal strike.

In St. Louis park lights have to go out at 12 midnight to save expense and the moon is expected to make all the light needed. Even moonlight is too bright for some birds in parks.

A lady in Pittsburgh had her landlord arrested for dragging her down stairs by the hair and one leg. She found out he was married and spied on him and he caught her peeping through a keyhole at him. Nothing was said about rent being due.

In a theatrical magazine a crooner advertises that he is at liberty. This goes to show what a tolerant people we are.

What's What At A Glance

War Is Unlikely During Visit
British Royalty Lacks Authority
Government Worries Over Reception

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Diplomatic Washington is gambling heavy odds that war will not break out in Europe while the king and queen of England are on this side of the Atlantic and especially while they are in this country.

Not that the king has any governmental authority at home. He hasn't nearly as much of it there as the president of the United States has in this republic. Nevertheless, as per British precedent, it would be perfectly scandalous for Britain to engage in international hostilities with its nominal boss away from his native soil. It might be passable while he's in Canada, but not during his stay on this side of the border.

The conclusion is that their majesties' trip certainly would have been cancelled if the London government hadn't been confident of its sovereign and his consort are back again in Buckingham Palace or at Windsor or some such royal residence.

In effect, they're regarded as virtual peace hostages so long as they stay here.

How Popular Are They?

Uncle Sam's officialdom is a good bit worried as to the popularity of the reception the visiting royalties receive here.

Scarcely needful to say, they'll be safeguarded from cranks as no two national guests ever were before. In this respect they'll be a decided nuisance. They'll upset all the normal life of the capital. Traffic will be shot entirely to pieces. Local business will be completely disorganized. The citizenry will consider 'em an informal bother. But what does the entertainment committee care for ordinary folks? John Doe won't be able to get to his office. Crossing Pennsylvania avenue will be like crossing the Polish Corridor.

There'll be terrific crowds along both sides of the street.

The authorities want a reasonable amount of applause from these aggregations. They're not afraid of many boos, but they're slightly apprehensive of clammy indifference.

"Sassiness" is another headache.

The tony bunch is literally crazy to get in on the receptions and things. Invitations to 'em are more valuable than United States senatorships. The British embassy's vicinity will be a war zone.

Washington has entertained royalty before, but never royalty of this pair's caliber.

Wallie And Husband

It's suspected that the recent broadcast by the Duke of Windsor (ex-king and former Prince of Wales) has sucked some of the life out of the welcome expected for his younger brother and sister-in-law.

The former prince has been here a time or two before, and was greatly liked.

My guess would be that the Windsors, dropping in for a week-end, would create more of a splash than their Britannic majesties. They wouldn't get such an official blow-out, but I'll bet they'd get a lot of public clamor.

Probably that's why the British government was so cold toward the duke's radio broadcast. It didn't enjoy having the duke swiping so much of the king's thunder—particularly at this juncture.

Dispatches keep saying that the duke and duchess are coming over here shortly.

If they do, they won't get the same official holler as the king and queen, but I'll bet they'll get more general attention than the royal couple.

Nevertheless, the two royalties will gum up the streets worse.

Gosh! What a pest these moguls are—obstructing traffic, the way they do—in a republic!

It's enough to make anybody a democrat.

The worst of it is that they slip over into our midst.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Edna Ferber urges that the price of books be lowered: "Booksellers should stop thinking of books either as precious things or merchandise. They are as necessary as fundamental and as life-giving as bread and water and they should be as common."

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont.—Richard S. Lambert, British educator, says education is needed to make democracy work.

"Without democracy, there could hardly be adult education. Conversely, democracy survives only in those countries where there is a well developed system of adult education."

CHICAGO—William M. Jeffers, president of Union Pacific railroad, optimistic over the future:

"Business on the whole seems quite satisfactory and the future appears optimistic."

NEW YORK—Attorney General Frank Murphy urges a vigorous defense of civil liberties:

"The unmistakable fact is that the seeds of barbarism have been sown among us and there are those who would like to see them sprout and grow."

Hints On Etiquette

"A la carte" on menu cards in restaurants or hotel dining rooms means you order your meal and pay a stated price for each dish.

Words Of Wisdom

To manage men one ought to have a sharp mind in a velvet sheath—George Eliot.

GRADUATES' POINT OF VIEW

A GREAT army of young folks, numbering somewhere around 1,000,000 people, will soon be graduating from universities, colleges, and high schools. They have marched up the dusty hill Difficulty of study, surmounting many obstacles, often tootore and weary. They have performed a service for the community, by fitting themselves to take part adequately in the world's work.

In former years it was customary for many of these graduates to deliver orations and essays expressing their views about life and the world. These pronouncements were often discounted because they told the world with such confidence just what it had to do so that the creaky old bus of modern life would run better over the humpy roads of experience.

The thoughts thus expressed were not often original. There had been great searchings of books of literature and poetical quotations for nuggets of wisdom, that would fill the admiring parents with ecstasy, as they listened to the learning of their offspring.

Youth today has often acquired rather a skeptical attitude that does not inspire community service. The graduating essay does not so frequently tell the world today what it must do to be saved. It may show the feeling that the world is a pretty sick old place.

Anyway the young folks who come out of the schools have a sincere desire to make good, and are entitled to their chance. Strain a point everywhere so they may have a place to show what they can do. The brightness that makes their school functions so sparkling will pep up many of our antiquated old customs.

THE WEALTH OF A NATION

The American business man is finding the going difficult in these days of government regulation and excessive taxation but the United States despite its economic ups and downs is by no means broke.

This is brought home clearly in the government inventory just finished which shows that this nation now has on hand $10,014,330,000 worth of useful and consumable goods. The figure a year ago was $8,470,935,000.

And the new figure does not represent the national wealth by any means. That, according to the inventory report, runs to about $350,000,000,000 and includes the value of mountain and plain, of field and forest and all the buildings, the railroads, the canals, the dams and every other item of wealth.

The useful and consumable goods total does not include things which have passed into use, even durable things such as machinery. The catalog is one of the new goods, still in the hands of manufacturers. It does not include vast stores of raw materials in the hands of the original producers, such as the grain and animals on farms, minerals in the mines and trees in the forest, nor what is in the stores. Only the goods, finished, together with the raw materials for fabrication which are in the hands of manufacturers are listed.

Incidentally the largest item is made up of iron and steel and their products. This amounts to $1,578,303,000. Next comes machinery of all sorts with a figure of $1,518,285,000. Third is food valued at $1,359,607,600 and then textiles and their products worth $1,131,349,000.

So there is little reason for Americans to lose heart when the going becomes tough. As long as this nation holds the wealth it does it will survive. What is necessary is a change in tack by the national administration which will strip the chains from the business man and enable him to fulfill his mission—the distribution of this vast wealth to the consuming public.

PROPER TRIBUTE TO PIONEER SURGERY

Kentucky is properly proud of its now completed shrine to Dr. Ephraim McDowell, pioneer surgeon, who in his home town of Danville performed the first ovariectomy, a major abdominal operation dangerous even under aseptic conditions today. The patient was Mrs. Jane Todd Crawford, who rode sixty miles on horseback in a wilderness to face what the physician and others told her was almost certain death.

That was in 1809, or 33 years before Dr. Crawford D. Long of Georgia introduced anesthesia. What the woman suffered as she lay on a rude table, conscious all the while, during the removal of a huge abdominal tumor, can scarcely be imagined. Quite rightly, a memorial has also been erected in Danville to her, and the sixty-mile highway which replaced the old buffalo trail is also named for her.

Dr. McDowell showed courage, too, in his own way. The easy and natural course would have been to let the woman die at her home. No one would have blamed him. The idea of surgical removal of malignant growths in the body, now common, was but a wild dream. Outside Dr. McDowell's home men waited to lynch him if the woman died. She recovered and lived 33 years.

From that time surgical knowledge and courage have multiplied. The spirit these Kentucky pioneers demonstrated 130 years ago, still undiluted, continues to inspire medical achievements the more amazing because they have become so routine.

LINK WITH THE PAST

The comparatively short period of time encompassed by the history of the United States is emphasized by the death, in Jamestown, Kansas, of Mrs. Sarah Brooks, 88, who as a girl of 18 was captured by a raiding party of Cheyenne Indians on the Kansas frontier, to be rescued a month later by General George A. Custer and his troops, who immediately took up the trail.

General Custer devotes an entire chapter to the rescue of Miss White, which was her maiden name, and a girl companion, in his book, "My Life On The Plains," which was published in 1874. The General was more gallant with the sword than with the pen, however. He says, "Miss White, the younger of the two, though not beautiful, possessed a most interesting face."

When a man is on trial in one matter, it isn't ethical to mention some other offense, unless he's a candidate.

People usually judge fairly. On off days, when nobody seems to like you, you don't like yourself much, either.

The town rich man is always silent. The only thing he cares to talk about is how much he is making, and he can't afford to tell that.

Deny Papers Were Tampered With In Pittsburgh Case

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, May 17.—A defense charge that papers in the "consent verdict" case against former City Solicitor Churchill B. Mehard had been tampered with today was expected to be given sharp prosecution denial.

Oliver K. Eaton, counsel of Me-hard, said he was certain that "certain changes" had been made in papers in the Mabel Ervin injury case, one of numerous cases Mehard is said to have settled out of court for more than $375,000. Since District Attorney Andrew T. Park began his investigation of the "consent verdicts," Eaton held, the original bill of complaint in the Ervin case has disappeared from the district attorney's office.

Park's assistants viewed Eaton's statement as a "smoke screen." They indicated Park would take the stand himself to deny the charge and its inference.

The Great Game Of Politics

ly indefensible as it is the largest of governmental expenditures proposed in six years. It is interesting that while the President has raised his voice against the shocking increase in the agricultural bill, he has said no word against the Florida canal, which amounts to almost as much. On the contrary, that is regarded more or less as an Administration measure. There is less chance, of course, of reducing the agricultural appropriations than of beating the canal bill. But both could still be done. In any event, a fight should be made by every man who has urged economy—if only to establish his own sincerity.

To Issue 200,000 Ben Franklin Maps

Four Signs To Be Erected Directing East-West Traffic Over Route No. 224

For the purpose of promoting even larger use of U. S. route No. 224, the Benjamin Franklin highway, plans have been laid in Findlay, Ohio, for the erection of four large sign boards at the east and west ends of the highway and also to issue 200,000 road maps which will show No. 224 as the short route from the east to the west.

In a letter to Fred L. Rentz, president of The News, John H. Williamson, president of the National Benjamin Franklin Highway association states that one of the signs will be erected at New Castle, one near Huntingdon, Indiana, two near Van Wert, O.

With the two world's fairs now going in New York and San Francisco, motor traffic across the country will be heavy this summer.

Six Unions Have Institute Tuesday

Six New Castle unions of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Lawrence county had their annual institute in the Central Presbyterian church downtown, Tuesday, and found the program very interesting and worthwhile.

Except for a few substitutions, the program was conducted as planned, and Mrs. C. N. Moore, as president of the Frances Willard (hostess) union, presided. The women heard legislative news of interest, encouraging reports, and left the institute with renewed resolve in their war of resistance to the liquor traffic. Miss Helen Leslie, accompanied by Mrs. J. J. McVaine, was heard in a vocal solo, as a special feature of the afternoon program. The L. T. L. sponsored by the East Side union, pleased the gathering with a fine demonstration of its work, and the harm done by alcohol and cigarettes.

The Withers firm was the low bidder for the work but it is the contention of Kaercher that the New Castle company is not licensed to do work in Youngstown.

Careful First Aid Treatment After Auto Accidents Imperative

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

ST. LOUIS, May 17.—Careful first aid treatment after automobile accidents is imperative if the thousands of deaths and disabilities caused annually by fractures of the spine are to be avoided, physicians and surgeons gathered in St. Louis for the 90th convention of the American Medical Association were told Tuesday.

Dr. H. Earl Conwell of Birmingham, Ala., pointed out the urgency of first aid after automobile accidents, particularly where there is a possibility of fracture of the spine.

The medical men, gathered from all parts of the country for the five-day session of the world's largest medical organization, also heard two Philadelphia doctors make a strong case against routine or indiscriminate removal of teeth or tonsils in treatment of patients.

Dr. Marion B. Sulzberger, New York, lectured on skin diseases and the progress that is being made by the introduction of the concept of allergy in the diagnosis of the diseases.

Dr. Conwell, addressing the A. M. A.'s surgical division, declared that "on many occasions fractures of the spine are unrecognized due to the fact that the patient is able to walk about following the accident." Even though the injury may appear insignificant, he said, a backache after an automobile accident should be carefully examined.

The Birmingham surgeon pointed out that about 1,150 persons died of an estimated 8,000 whose spines were fractured in automobile accidents in this country during 1937.

Drs. Hobart A. Reimann and W. Paul Havens of Philadelphia marshaled evidence from medical literature of the past ten years tending to show that a relation between infection in teeth and tonsils has never been proved and that its importance has been greatly exaggerated.

The two doctors discussed in detail a number of diseases which are usually considered to be influenced by the teeth and tonsils, and they quoted authorities who in studying large groups of cases have found small support for the theory that removal of either teeth or tonsils lessened the effects of the disease.

Bad Employment Conditions Delay Paroles For Many

Assurance Of Employment Must Be Given By Those Eligible

HARRISBURG, May 17.—Depressed economic conditions are preventing the parole of 129 prisoners in the Commonwealth's four penitentiaries, Secretary of Welfare E. Arthur Sweeney said today.

Before a prisoner may be paroled, Secretary Sweeney explained, suitable parole plans, including definite assurance of employment, must be submitted. The entire group lacks prospects of jobs and, as a result, taxpayers must continue providing for their maintenance. This annually costs $51,538.

All the men have completed their minimum sentences and are immediately eligible for parole consideration, if they find a responsible sponsor. With employment difficult to find, the prisoners can no longer look to their relatives or friends to procure their release. Some probably will have to serve the maximum of their sentence, when discharge is automatic. Others will be released earlier on cumulative good behavior time.

Many of the prisoners are employed in prison industries shops and are earning amounts varying from ten to fifty cents a day. This may be banked for the convict, or he may remit part or all of it to dependents. In addition to financial resources, the prisoners upon release are given a complete outfit of made-to-order clothing.

Bond Issues For Schools Decline

Decrease Of Over Eight Million Dollars Noted This Year

HARRISBURG, May 17.—William S. Livengood, Jr., Secretary of Internal Affairs, said today that a study of local bond issues approved by that department during the first four months of 1939 shows a decrease of $8,312,400, as compared with those of the same period in 1938.

The total borough, city, township and school issues in January, February, March and April of 1939 stands at $6,851,500. The total for the corresponding period of 1938 was $15,163,900.

The difference is due largely to the very large bond issues authorized by city school districts, $11,365,000 in the four months period in 1938 as against only $1,829,500 in 1939.

IMPROPER POSTURE IN CHILD- HOOD CAN RESULT IN LIFE- LONG MALFORMATION

Correct posture is especially important to the young child because the bones have not yet set, being comparatively soft and pliable, easily bent out of shape. If the child isn't taught to hold himself properly, his bones will harden in the incorrect position, and his posture will remain faulty throughout life.

Teachers can do a lot to help children in the matter of proper carriage. Supervised play is a good thing, every teacher knows, or should know, the proper exercises to make shoulders, backs and legs straight.

Occasionally a standing child will shift his weight to one leg when tired. This change produces a wide-spread effect. First, one hip gets more burden than the other; on one side the shoulder and hip are low. On the other side, the reverse is the case. The result is that one lung is constricted, leaving the other to do all the work.

I tell this because I have had children brought to me suffering from poor circulation, bad digestion and faulty bowel action, and I have found that the trouble was largely caused by the fact that the child's consistently bad posture was interfering with the functions of the various organs. Especially unfortunate is the fact that at this time of life the body should be storing up extra energy for that extra growth. Instead, this extra energy is being used up because the body must do extra and unnecessary work to perform the simple functions of breathing, digestion, and blood circulation.

While you're at it, you might as well teach the young girl or boy the right recumbent posture. When a child is resting, he should lie on his back on a firm surface. Pillows are unnecessary. In fact, they actually tend to increase unhealthy curves in the spine instead of straightening them. Incidentally, clothing should be loose and there should ALWAYS be a good circulation of fresh air in the bedroom.

If it so happens that the child's posture while standing isn't as erect as it might be, he can be helped somewhat if he is taught to lie properly. It is a good idea to place a small pad under his back just below the bottom of the shoulder blades.

If you once get a child interested in his body and its development, you won't have much trouble with his posture. If you show him how he can add an inch or so to his height if he learns to stand correctly, half the battle will be won. Always remember that if a child stands badly it is usually because his muscles are flabby and weak. If that is the case, you know what you must do to correct this. Or if you don't, your doctor will tell you. The child needs exercise and proper diet, and he should have them at once.

Change Dates Of North Beaver Grange Activities

Regular Grange Meeting And Neighborhood Gathering
Dates Are Changed

Announcement is made today that the regular meeting of North Beaver Grange, scheduled for Friday evening, May 19, has been changed to Wednesday evening, May 24, by action of the executive committee, with the approval of the Master, because of school activities at North Beaver high school.

It is also announced that the neighborhood meeting which was scheduled for May 26 has been postponed until Friday evening, June 2, by the Pomona committee. At this time Wilmington, East New Castle and Willard Granges will be guests of North Beaver Grange.

The dictators are understandable. Even in our peace-loving land, men who control the "nation's might" are sorely tempted to see how it works.

Shaffer Achieves College Honors

CHARLES SHAFFER

NEW WILMINGTON, May 17.—One of Westminster's most versatile students, Charles Shaffer of Mahoningtown, will graduate in the June class at Westminster college.

Shaffer, a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, has served as president of the student council, the senior class, Tau Kappa Alpha and Sphinx, honorary senior men's fraternity. He is also a member of Masquers, dramatics group; the varsity debate team; and was chosen to represent the college in "Who's Who in American Colleges."

A major in social sciences, Shaffer expects to teach or go into salesmanship after graduation. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shaffer, Mahoningtown.

Before a Japanese completes his three to five-year course in jujitsu in order to become a trainer, he is obliged to experience the sensation of being choked into insensibility, according to an authority in Collier's Weekly. If it does not happen to him in a contest, his own instructor does the job on graduation day.

GERMAN NAVY HAS NEW FULL DRESS PARADE UNIFORM

(International News Service)
BERLIN—A new full-dress uniform for parades and other ceremonial occasions has been decreed for the German navy.

In the future, officers and warrant officers have to wear riding breeches, riding boots and, during parades before the fuchrer, the same shoulder straps as cavalrymen. Men and non-commissioned officers have to wear the same kind of boots as the German infantry, with the trousers turned up. The new full-dress uniform does away with what may be called more or less non-military implements like long trousers and normal shoes, hitherto worn on such occasions. Altogether, the "blue boys" will in future offer a more martial sight than heretofore.

Because there is no property right in oceans, it is widely believed that anyone is entitled to hunt and keep the countless millions of dollars of treasure lying in sunken ships. However, this is not true, says Collier's Weekly, as the underwriters become the sole legal owners of these wrecks and all contents on the day the insurance is paid.

Three Scandanavian Countries Reject Proposal Of Hitler

Non-Aggression Pact Is Rejected

Hailed As "Superfluous" By Sweden, Finland And Norway

NAZIS SEE ACTION ROOSEVELT REBUKE

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, May 17.—Hailed by Germany as a "rebuttal to President Roosevelt's folly" in asking Germany and Italy for twenty-five years of guaranteed peace.

"The result of the Fuehrer's proposal," a spokesman said, "is a blow to President Roosevelt."

"It shows the folly of his attempts to manoeuvre European affairs. The answers of the Scandinavian countries are in themselves a rebuke to Mr. Roosevelt for meddling in things which do not concern him directly."

Meanwhile, Hitler continued his inspection tour of Germany's western fortifications, touring the palatine district. The German fleet returned to its home port at Kiel and Wilhelmshaven today after spring exercises in the Mediterranean.

B. & O. Railroad Has Interesting History

Origin Of Road Goes Back To 1827 And John Carroll Of Carrolltown

Much has been written about the start of the Baltimore and Ohio, America's first railroad, and it is common knowledge that on July 4th, 1827, the first spike for the steel ribbons that were the bridge path of the new iron horse was driven by John Carroll of Carrolltown, signer of the Declaration of Independence. However, of greater interest to the local citizenry is the coming of the Baltimore and Ohio to New Castle. In 1882, the Pittsburgh and Western were operating a narrow gauge railroad from Allegheny to Mt. Jewett, branching off at Callery Jct., through Butler, and in 1884 the connecting link between that road and the Pittsburgh Cleveland and Toledo was built.

The Pittsburgh Cleveland and Toledo was built in 1883, connecting New Castle with Akron, thence over the old Akron and Chicago Jct. Railroad to Chicago, now known as Willard, Ohio. This line also connected with the Cleveland Terminal and Valley Railroad to Cleveland, and the Cleveland Lorain and Western to Lorain, O. These railroads have since been absorbed by the Baltimore and Ohio and are now part of the system through that territory. The Painesville Pittsburgh and Fairport Railroad, a narrow gauge line operated at that time from Fairport Harbor on Lake Erie to DeForest Jct., O., where the connection was made with the P. C. & T. R. R.

Shortly after the P. C. & T. R. R. was built it was taken over by the P. & W., making a continuous line from Allegheny west to Akron. Many interesting stories can be told by the old P. & W. veterans, many of whom are still making their homes in New Castle, of the hazards of railroading in those days, of the link and pin couplers when a badge of the profession was a finger of at least part of one nipped off from making the couplings, to overcome the difficulty of interchanging cars from the narrow gauge rails to the standard gauge, it was necessary to build a third rail, and amusing it must have been to see a narrow gauge engine and caboose with the gauge engine and standard gauge cars in between train of mixed narrow gauge and standard gauge cars.

The first shop of the old P. C. & T. R. R. was a one stall affair with a manual turntable located at the end of what is now Wabash avenue, in the Seventh Ward, with the increased business the shop was later moved to New Castle Jct., where a four stall enginehouse was built, about three hundred yards west of the site of the present shop. The present shop and yards became necessary with acquisition of through lines, and in 1902 the 20 stall enginehouse and 3500 car capacity yard now being used was built. However many improvements and additions have been added since that time, due to the increased activities at this terminal, among them have been added six new enginehouse stalls to take care of the present day type of locomotive, with a wheel base of 105 feet, with the new larger locomotives it also was necessary to build a new turntable, which is 115 feet long, electrically operated. The new cinder conveyor then became a necessity to replace the old "water pits" and at a cost of $50,000 the present electrically operated conveyor was put in operation. Most recent improvements have been the installation of new machinery in the machine shop which makes it possible to entirely recondition three locomotives each month in addition to the 100 odd other heavy repair jobs turned out each month.

B. & O. day will be held in New Castle, Tuesday, May 23rd, and the public is invited to visit the shops and see the huge locomotives being reconditioned, repaired and serviced awaiting their call to haul passenger trains, fast freights, ore trains, coal trains and locals dispatching cars to all parts of the United States.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Pharmacopoeia—from the Greek "medicine" and "to make". It is a book containing a list of medicines.

A pharmacopoeia also contains descriptions and formulas. There must be a definite standard for medicines.

Prescriptions deal with some powerful agents. The pharmacist must know exactly what the doctor means.

The world's oldest documents were medicinal formulas. Stone tablets, dated 3700 B. C., contained prescriptions.

The Papyrus of Ebers, 1552 B. C., was a pharmacopoeia. The U. S. Pharmacopoeia is revised every ten years.

Medicines mentioned 3500 years ago are still in use. Prescriptions are as old as the pills.

Compare LONG LIFE and ECONOMY

AMAZING ECONOMY!

Owners report 20 to 24 miles per gallon of gas—proved better than the "other three" in hundreds of side-by-side tests. And no oil added between regular changes.

Lower Upkeep Costs!

Owners changing to Hudson are amazed at the big reduction in their upkeep costs. Reports show tens of thousands of miles without touching the motor—and with no major repairs of any kind.

HIGH RESALE VALUE!

Cars with features ahead of their time bring top prices in trade. That's why used cars built by Hudson 2, 3 and 4 years ago command above-average resale prices today. And that's why your 1939 Hudson—with many more new features not found in other cars—will be a preferred value at resale time.

On the desk of the county commissioners Tuesday was a beautifully engraved invitation from the Governor of Pennsylvania and the State World's Fair Commission. The invitation asked the commissioners to be at the World's Fair in New York City on May 19 for the dedication of the Pennsylvania building, which will be dedicated by Governor Arthur H. James.

One of the carpenters reminded us on Tuesday that the scaffolding on the court house dome was put up there not alone for the painters but for carpenters as well. There are some repairs to be made and a new metal sheathing is over the dome.

Just now it looks like a ripe tomato to glistening in the sun. Later it will be painted, probably a dark green.

To date 6604 dogs have been licensed in the county treasurer's office, 1567 fishermen have gotten their licenses through this office and to date 356 merchants have paid their mercantile license. There are about 2000 merchants in the county and the license fees are due this month.

No bids were awarded by the county commissioners on Tuesday for linoleum and wooden blinds for the Boyle house. The bids were tabled until Commissioner George H. Bolinger returns from his illness.

In the linoleum bids there are several possibilities and the commissioners want a full board to decide on who gets the bid.

About the next order of repair business for the county commissioners will be wall paper and plaster patching in court room number two. The paper has a sad and dejected look and no lawyer could really rise to the heights with that stuff surrounding him.

In spots the water has come through which probably means a spot of plastering. The paper will probably be steamed off and the plaster repaired, then the new paper put on.

The third coat of white paint is going on the sheriff's home and the parts done glisten with pristine beauty. The painting and repairing is making a tight building of the house and the same applies to the court house. Around front the sand blasters are still tearing off the accumulation of years.

In the basement of the court house it has been necessary to pull out some of the piping under the floor and replace it with heavy duty cast iron pipe. The old pipe is corroded right through and looks as though a mouse had been lunching on it. Apparently forty or fifty years ago the cast iron pipe was not what it might have been.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

A few years ago on a week-end up the river we were talking, after dinner, about iron-clad battleships and how they started. So far as we knew, the battle between the Monitor and Merrimack at Hampton Roads was the first engagement between ships so armored.

Later that evening, the Korean houseboy asked me, with great deference and many apologies, if he might have a word with me. He explained that his country had made the first "great ship of iron to go in fight" and that it had overwhelmed all the ships the Japanese could bring against it. What with the boy's quaint English and with my mind on other matters, I didn't follow the story closely, but it seemed that all this happened "so long ago almost forgot."

I was mildly amused and wondered where the lad got his idea. But it was Gospel truth. Several years later I ran it down in the history books. Early in the 16th century, the Koreans made a huge, eight-decked ironclad battleship which pinned back the ears of the Japanese as nothing ever did before or since.

The vessel was built like a tortoise, with the creature's rearing head fanged, pop-eyed and bristling —a truly ferocious monster, as the old prints show it. They put a chimney on it, through the turtle's neck, stoked up a fire in the hold and as it bore down on the Japanese fleet of Admiral Hideoyoshi in Chin-hai Bay, there was a horrendous belch of flame and smoke from the turtle's mouth. It was a quick, clean-cut victory for the Koreans, and the Japanese didn't bother them for a long time after that.

The Japanese have far outtrunk the Korean tortoise, but the old turtle is still peddling along after just 4272 years of recorded history, and just now it is belching smoke and beginning to look tough again—even if it is tethered by the Japanese.

Of the 23,000,000 Koreans, it has just been estimated that about 5,000,000 are scattered throughout the world, organizing, agitating and proselytizing for the liberation of their country, snatched by Japan in 1910. They have an insatiable yen for education, as the first article of their revolutionary faith is that only by knowledge can they free their homeland.

The Ivy League colleges, as well as a score or more of colleges throughout the country, have been running through an increasing number of Koreans in the last few years—Columbia well up in the lead.

Pu Joang, who was graduated from Occidental college in 1924, is supposed to be the world leader of their movement. I believe he also took a post-graduate degree at the American university at Washington—although it is not certain that the above is his real name. Hazards of their cause make it expedient at times for these Korean boys to take any name which may pop into their head.

In Washington the other day, Dr. Syngram Rhee, the first president of the Korean republic, established the headquarters of Korean Nationalist Mission, the avowed purpose of which is to jerk Korea back from the rule of Japan.

An envoy from the Japanese embassy arrived to make polite inquiries about Dr. Rhee's plans. He replied, also politely, that his plan was to give the boot to Japan with any and all opportunities, until his people were "no longer enslaved."

They both bowed and the smiling visitor departed.

Such encounters between Japan and Korea have been taking place for about 2,000 years. Dr. Rhee, sentenced to execution, but instead, jailed for seven years, picked up a Princeton Ph. D. and a Harvard Master of Arts after he escaped, first to Honolulu and then to the mainland.

In an unsuccessful Korean revolt of 1919 he was chosen president—and he says that is just what he still is.

He was a friend of Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson and William Howard Taft. He has been fighting for Korean freedom for 45 years and says he is just getting a fast, running start. Faith in freedom is a durable plant and dies hard—and that goes for the rest of the world where this ancient growth undergoes considerable hacking and gouging. Incidentally, that first ironclad battleship which licked the Japanese was invented by a garret inventor named Yi Soon Sin.

Meet "Bill Miller" . . .

TYPICAL BELL TELEPHONE LINEMAN

You've seen them on the city streets and rural roads. In all kinds of weather, wherever there are telephone lines, Bell linemen go with their big, green trucks.

Strong, husky fellows with good heads, trained hands and stout hearts, these are the men who build and maintain the voice-ways of the nation.

There are 530 of these linemen among the 16,000 people in this company. They have been telephone men, on the average, for more than fourteen years.

We'd like you to know them better and so we present . . . "Bill Miller"—who is the average of them all.* We give him this name because "William" and "Miller" are two of the names most common among Bell Telephone linemen.

HE STARTED YOUNG . . .

Bill Miller joined this company when he was 22. Chances are he had attended high school and played on the football team. Because of his sturdy physique (he's 5 feet 10, weighs 173) he was made a groundman or lineman's helper—known to telephone men as a "grunt."

HE KNOWS HIS JOB . . .

After two years of learning how—on the job and in the company's Plant School—Bill became a full-fledged linemen. Now, high up on poles, he strings the shining wires and cables that carry your voice across the state or to the far corners of the nation.

A GOOD FRIEND AND NEIGHBOR . . .

Fond of baseball, football, fishing and other sports . . . always ready to lend a neighbor a hand . . . Bill Miller has two children. He's happily married and has two children. More than one-third of our linemen own their own homes, four out of five have cars and 21 per cent own a few shares of Bell Telephone stock.

HE'S ON THE WAY UP . . .

Though he earns good wages now, Bill Miller has an eye to the future. He knows that the men in the jobs ahead have come up through the telephone ranks—that the opportunity is there for him to move up as the years go by. Meanwhile, he's proud to do his part in a service that means so much to so many people.

YOUR GOOD TELEPHONE SERVICE depends to a large degree upon the teamwork of telephone men and women all along the line. Bell linemen, installers, operators, billing clerks, engineers, service representatives—all work with one main purpose always in mind—to give you the finest telephone service in the world at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety.

DODGERS AGAIN DEFEAT CHICAGO

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 17.—By all odds the most absorbing topic in baseball today is the return of Dizzy Dean and his ailing $185,000 arm to the firing line.

For a long time while Ol' Diz moped morosely in the shadow of the dug-out the feeling grew that he would never be worth a plugged nickel to the Cubs.

Dean Goes In
Unfortunately for the Cubs, the Dodgers already had the game in the bag before Ol' Diz shuffled out to make his debut. By that time Camilli had hit his sixth home run, the Dodgers had scored 12 times and with Wyatt saving only four hits, they had no trouble winning, 12-2.

Lefty Grissom also made something of a comeback yesterday. The Reds' southpaw went the route for the first time this season to beat the Bear, 4-1.

The Pirates, steadily improving, stopped the Phils 8-5, with Bowman hurling, and the rampant Cardinals came from behind to take the Giants, 7-6.

They made only four hits in six innings off young Johnny Kramer of the Browns, but even so, the Yanks had him down 4-2 when he left the game, and eventually won, 7-5.

Red Sox Go WPA

The Red Sox, even without Jimmy Fox, who is hospitalized for a few days with sinus trouble, went wild against the White Sox, nailing up 19 hits for an 18-4 decision.

The Tigers knocked off the Senators, 6-2.

A crowd of 15,109 fans jammed into the park at Philadelphia to watch the American League's first night baseball game which went 10 innings before the Cleveland Indians defeated the Athletics 8 to 3.

Grove City Elks To Sponsor Team

(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, May 17.—The Elks Lodge will revive baseball in Grove City in a big way this year, by putting a fast team on the field, smartly equipped in new uniforms. Practice sessions in charge of Manager Bob Wiseman have shown the calibre of the team to be the best in years, and by early June, when the College field will be available for home games, the Elks will be in condition to meet the best Class A teams of the district.

Until June 14, the Elks will play home games at the George Junior Republic field, but will schedule many games away. Managers of fast teams in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio is asked to write for dates to Floyd McElmonds, Reporter-Herald, Grove City, Pa.

WOULD LIKE GAMES

The Wabash Bears softball team would like to meet any of the fast city softball league teams, such as the Rads, Nobils, K. Pulaskis. For games call 1624-M and ask for Willie Domenick or Skip Russo. The Bears are a senior team.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Boxing show in the Arena, Monday night, went off systematically. Every battle was good and fans enjoyed the carnival of punch. However, many who have hovered close to pugilism for a score or more years keenly felt the absence of the veteran manager and trainer of boxers, Jimmie Dime, who has been ill. It was pleasing to hear that he has recovered sufficiently to take short walks in the Laurel boulevard yard.

A'though Jimmie was not present, his heart was with a protegee. Just before Mickie Rubin departed from the dressing-room for the ring, he was handed an unopened note. It was from Dime who, just before becoming ill, some months ago, had Rubin looking like a hot prospect. Monday night Mickie showed the effects of Jimmie's absence.

He alternated from right to left stance, and at one time walked in hands low and chin exposed. Had he been up against a smart boxer with a punch he would have been certain for Mickie. Rubin is a game lad, a great streaker and his possesses assimilative qualities. However, until a fighter learns self defense he will be on the receiving end and anyone who can be hit on a vulnerable spot, can be knocked out.

It is the honest opinion of the writer that Rubin must adopt a proper stance and guard himself, otherwise his will not go places in the ring. It may come to pass that Rubin will accept this advice in the spirit in which it is offered. The writer has handled some good fighters, seen plenty of them come and go, and would like to see Rubin and other local boys go up. Rubin has the good wishes of the fans and he can help himself if he will try.

Among the visitors from out of town was Rev. F. McDonough of Youngstown. Mayor Charles E. McGrath was at the boxing show and after the battles visited the office. He helped count the tickets. The taxes on the show amounted to $107.20 of which the state received $35.73 and the federal government $71.47. The A. A. U. gave a free permit for the show. State and federal taxation must be paid on every boxing show and when the figures up the tax paid annually, he will discover it to be a very healthy amount. Phil Greer, formerly connected with the Jolly bowl, judged for the first time. State Motor Policeman G. F. Keck judged for the second time.

Frankie Moran, the featherweight, was in the crowd. Frankie is one of the best looking featherweights in the tri-state amateur ranks. He hits good with either hand, can assimilate punches and does not needlessly expose himself to blows. The crowd was strong for Larry Regal, the Buttrite. No better bout could have been staged than the Al Peterson-Patsy Frazier scrap. When Tom Leach made that match he made a m-a-j-o-r decided palatable. There will be no boxing show May 29 in the Arena. It is appreciable to know that among our colleagues we have some versatile performers. When Bugs Walther failed to show up to announce the show because he fell asleep and did not awaken in time to reach the Arena, Charlie Landolf was called upon. He performed admirably. Years ago when the arena was a club, he helped around the Jolly bowl office and, knowing the system, filled the role.

Sheriff Cy Ingham had a wall-stand, instead of a seat. He likes to stay in the rear of the hall and take the fight in at long distance. Yank Pagley kept the boxers moving in and out of the ring without delays which is something fans like. Clarence Leannex helps Yank and between them they do not permit any stalling. Dick Ignatz probably will not be billed again. He has failed to appear twice. On the last occasion he showed an injury to a hand incurred, he said. Sunday night, while playing baseball, The Jefferson A. C. was not notified of the injury until Kid Swede, who took his place, and Ignatz walked into the hall. It is not known exactly when the Jefferson A. C. will move outside. The Arena has an air-cooling system and it may not be necessary to shift operations outside.

Considerable credit should be paid Miss Helen Kieler who represented the New Castle hospital nurses who sponsored the recent boxing show. Miss Kieler and the nurses who aided her, were kept decidedly busy. They were tired girls when the venture was over. However, they had the pleasure of seeing it a success.

Waynesburg track and field team beat Geneva, at Beaver Falls, 67-64. W. & J. golfers won from Carnegie Tech at Washington, 8-1 and the Red and Black net team won 5-4. Pitt won in tennis from Grove City at Pittsburgh, 5-4, and in golf recorded a victory over the Dukes, 6-3. Today West Virginia will play Pitt in tennis and Penn State will oppose the Army at the nets.

W. H. Gallagher's Wise Bee won the Bouquet Claiming stakes, worth $3,625, at Belmont Park yesterday. Foxborough, owned by William Woodward, has been scratched and will not run in the Espoon Downs Derby, today. His other entry, Hypnotist, is the only American entry left. Butler high closed its dual track meet season by beating Duquesne 79 to 48. The 1944 Olympic games will go either to London or Detroit.

West Pittsburg Is Topped By Slovaks

Score Is 9 To 1 In Favor Of Slovaks Over 1938 Champs, Anderson Is Star

Leroy Anderson on the hill for the Slovak Club last night pitched a material brand of ball, and as a result the Slovaks won victory number two in the City Baseball league, by trimming the West Pittsburg "Gas House" gang 9 to 1. Anderson allowed seven scattered hits. He fanned six. Fruitt featured the game by smashing out a homer. Coates and Powell were the losing heavies.

Commission Names Officers At

Meeting Held On Tuesday Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, May 17.—Dr. H. E. Helling was elected president of the Ellwood City Playground Commission at its organization meeting held in the Board of Education rooms last night.

G. Blaine Hancher was selected secretary of the board, a position he held for four years under the old commission.

The commission members drew lots for the number of years they were to serve and the results were: Tom Sleighter, five years; Dr. H. E. Helling, four years; Gerald Reid, three years; Paul Luther, two years, and Louise Barton, one year.

The 1939 budget was adopted and hearty approval given to the idea of the Playground Commission maintaining a soft drink stand at Ewing Park so as to try and make up a $150 deficit that exists in the playground budget at the present time.

Directors were engaged for the coming year with all play spots having the same directors as last year with the exception of the West-End playground where, due to curtailment of expenses, that ground will be under N. Y. A. supervision.

Mark DeBortoli will be in charge of the refreshment stand in Ewing Park for the summer and the complete supervision of the playgrounds will be under Playground Director Denny Schill.
